

Household Hazardous Waste Collection Drive-Thru Event At BuRRT Saturday, Nov. 5, 9 a.m. – 1 p.m.

The Santa Fe Solid Waste Management Agency is hosting a free household hazardous waste collection drive-thru event for Santa Fe city and county residents on Saturday, November 5, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the Buckman Road Recycling and Transfer Station (BuRRT). The drive-thru format allows you stay in your vehicle while trained staff unload the HHW materials from your car trunk, SUV cargo area, or pickup bed.

Products with warning labels such as dangerous, toxic, flammable, combustible, corrosive and ignitable are considered hazardous waste that can cause serious illness or pose an environmental or health threat if improperly handled or disposed of.

Due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic the Agency continues to practice the following protocols and request all customers do the same:

- Wear a facemask or face covering.
- Stay inside their vehicle.
- Place their HHW in the trunk/SUV cargo area or pickup bed for trained staff to unload it.
- Limit two people.

Acceptable HHW materials include:

- Motor oil, antifreeze, gasoline, automotive product
- Paints, thinners, stains, varnishes, solvents
- Aerosol cans, small propane tanks and canisters
- Household cleaning products, hobby chemicals
- Pesticides, herbicides, poisons
- Fertilizers, lawn products, swimming pool chemicals
- Car and rechargeable batteries, fluorescent bulbs
- Smoke alarms/detectors, fire extinguishers, road flares
- Mercury thermostats and thermometers

What if I can't make it to the event?

Residents can take their HHW materials to BuRRT every Friday and Saturday throughout the year during normal operating hours. The minimum cost is $6.50 which covers up to 260 lbs. Mercury-Containing Equipment and lamps are $0.50/unit.

- Electronic waste, televisions, appliances
- Ammunition, explosives, radioactive waste, asbestos
